THE POLARIS 1953

Edited by SENIOR CLASS of
NORTH NASHVILLE HIGH SCHOOL
Nashville, Tennessee

"Hi, everybody! I'm Penny, a typical senior at North High. Come along with me for a stroll through the corridors and classrooms of our brain factory. We can use this '53 edition of the POLARIS as our guide."

"Gee, look at all the familiar faces and events . . . Yankess plowing up the football field . . . bright orange and blue flashing on the hardwood . . . dream dust slowly descending over couples at the formal!"

"All these super activities were a part of our lives at North —things we shall never forget!"

"Fun galore at rehearsals and the messy make-up . . . crowning the lovely queen at homecoming . . . cheering for the team . . . dancing after the games . . . good times for all!"

P O L A R I S

Before we go on, Penny, I would like to say a word about the annual staff. They have all cooperated wonderfully in making this book the best possible. Oh, they grumbled a little when they first realized the work that was cut out for them, but they soon buckled down and did a tiptop job. Thanks a lot, staff, it has been lots of fun working with you.

Gratefully,

Guess I'd better take this opportunity to put in my two cents worth, Penny. It has been a lot of fun and it is a real pleasure to be able to say I worked on the '53 POLARIS. If I have helped to create memories that will remind my classmates of their wonderful high school days, I will have fulfilled my job. So thank you, staff, sponsors, co-editor, and Penny for being so helpful.

Sincerely,

MISS EDYTHER DICKENS

MR. LLOYD WEBB

MISS ETHEL FRIEDMAN

"Now let me introduce three top teachers, 'cause without their helpful guidance our senior year could never have been so successful. Meet Miss Edythe Dickens, Mr. Lloyd Webb, and Miss Ethel Friedman. To them a big, scrumptious thank you!"

MR. LLOYD WEBB

DEDICATION

"School just wouldn't be complete without this likeable person. The senior gals and gators rank Mr. Lloyd Webb at the top of the list by dedicating to him this year's POLARIS. He's the best 'bopster' in the business and our one and only band director. As we scale the mountains of the future, his timely advice will always be a song to remember."

"Here's a familiar sight—the office staff. They help make our school run smoothly."

SECOND ROW: Mary Helen Wirshing, Ella Ruth Hardin, Elva Ruth Williams, Carolyn Graves, Emma Graves, Tiny Graves, Nancy Vanatta, Verna Jean Henderson, Peggy Brewer and Mr. Noel.

"Of course, on a trip through North you just have to meet the person in charge of all the students, Mr. J. H. Noel. He is really a terrific guy. If we sometimes get off the beaten path he is always ready to help us hop on the beam to betterment. After having been here for six years, most of us have come to think of Mr. Noel and Miss Frances Van Deren, school secretary, as two of our very best friends."

HISTORY...CLASS OF '53

Gee Whiz, here I am at last, Penny Singleton! Sure thought I'd never make it. I have dreamed of taking those steps for a long time. Funny, but that aisle never seemed so long before. Linger in my ears are the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance." What a wonderful feeling comes over me as I sit here on the stage with my classmates! Looking out into the crowded auditorium my mind wanders back to my school days at North; the days which I cannot relive, but of which I have so many nostalgic memories.

It seems only yesterday that I came to North as a seventh grader. We were really "squares" then. Remember the confusion of those first days? We could never get to the right place at the right time. It didn't take us long, though, to realize that we had many things to learn about this place in which we would prepare ourselves for the future. Soon we settled down to our never-to-be-forgotten first year at North.

The year—1948-49. We were in the eighth grade. Confident of ourselves, we looked down on the seventh graders and felt a little bigger and more important. No longer were we scared of getting lost in the halls or having light bulbs stuck in our ears; only one fear remained. Mr. Noel? Nope, his paddle. We had heard some wild and wicked tales about that paddle from some of the less fortunate ones. Speaking of the unfortunate ones, our homeroom teachers were Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Jackson, Miss Alley, Mr. Doak, and Miss Hagey. Just think, the next year we would be graduated from junior high.

In the ninth grade, we were strickly "in the groove" and began to feel that we were a part of the school. How nice it sounded to be called "freshmen"! Although we were in our last year of junior high, being considered a part of the high school made us feel our importance. We elected Kenneth Madden to the presidency of our freshmen class. Don Brown and Genevieve Perry were elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer, respectively. What fun it was electing superlatives! Some of our "real gone" classmates received these honors. Now we were eligible to run for an office of the student body, too. The year was climaxed by junior high graduation at which time we received, with pride, our junior high school diplomas.

Sophomores! Sophomores! Hurray! We were no longer in junior high. Almost everyone began to take part in the school activities. Singing in the Senior High Chorus and playing in the Band were really a lot of fun. The boys played on the football, basketball, and baseball teams and some of the girls supported them as cheerleaders and majorettes. Forward march! Get in step! Fall out! Company halt! That's right, the boys were taking their first year of R. O. T. C. Winning the Armistice Day Parade was an honor and I'm sure they haven't forgotten Federal Inspection. Those were only a few of the many things we participated in, though there were many. Yes, the old school spirit had taken hold of us.

As juniors, we began to realize that we were nearing our goal. Now we were really "on the beam." We started the year off by electing junior class officers. J. T. Perry was chosen to fill the office of president. Other officers elected were: Herman Schroeder, vice-president; Elva Williams, secretary; and Anne West, treasurer. Some of us became members of the Nu Eta Sigma Chapter of the National Honor Society. We ended the year by entertaining the seniors at the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Then we began to look forward to taking our last step up the ladder of completion—our senior year.

At last our dream had come true. We were seniors and every one was looking up to us. A lot of things happened in our senior year at North. First, there was the election of senior officers, who were: Herman Schroeder, president; Thomas Williams, vice-president; Anne West, secretary; and Beverlee Wright, treasurer. Attendants for Football Homecoming were Margie Floyd and Margaret Silveman, and Beverlee Wright was queen. Receiving the honors of "Bachelor of Ugliness" and "Miss North High" were Herman Schroeder and Beverlee Wright, respectively. Mary Helen Wirshing was appointed editor of the NORTH STAR and also co-editor of the POLARIS. Kenneth Madden served as the other co-editor of the annual. By right of having the highest averages on their last term exams, Kenneth Madden and Mary Helen Wirshing were president and vice-president of the Honor Society, respectively. Anne West was elected captain of the cheerleaders, and the football team chose their captains from game to game. Close races loomed in the election of superlatives which was a lot of fun. Speaking of fun reminds me of the Senior Formal, the Junior-Senior Prom, and that wonderful Sneak Day. Yes, those were the "good old days." Although they have come and gone, their memories will always linger in our hearts.

Did someone say something? Why, yes. Mary Helen Wirshing is delivering her salutatory address. Valedictorian Kenneth Madden speaks next. Every one sits erect and listens attentively. He must have worked hard to achieve the honor. D. A. R. Medalist, Elva Williams, receives her medal. How proud she must feel to have been chosen the best girl citizen by her classmates. The Civitan Medal goes to Kenneth Madden by the same merit. Finally the moment which we have looked forward to arrives. A funny feeling comes over me suddenly. At last we have received it! The certificate which, to us, symbolizes a reward for twelve years of work—a high school diploma. Looking at it, we all seem to realize that our carefree school days are over and we must look to the future. The music begins again, and each graduate, clutching his diploma tightly, walks up the aisle which will lead him out into the world. In a short time we have been transposed from students to young men and women, and we must each find our own place in life.

PROPHECY OF 1953 SENIORS

While going through my belongings one day, I found an envelope my father had given me on his dying bed. The envelope contained a small golden key inscribed "To Penny Singleton, A Key to the Future." Thinking it was merely a key, I put it in my pocket and soon forgot it.

One day not long afterwards, I was taking a stroll through a beautifully colored forest when suddenly the heavens grew very dark. Thunder roared and lightning danced in the sky above. I began to look for shelter. Finally, I came to a clearing in which before me loomed a mysterious castle. Running to the front door, I turned the knob, but the door failed to open. Suddenly, I remembered the key in my pocket and thinking it worth a try, I slipped the key into the lock and breathlessly awaited the results. Surely enough, the door began to open. I found myself gazing down a long hallway stretching forward through the mist. As I started to enter, a voice from the towering heights of the building spoke.

"I am the voice of the future, Penny. What is your wish?"

"I would like to know the fate of each of my classmates of 1953."

"Your wish shall be granted."

Presently the voice continued, "There looms before me many eyes. As the vision clears, I see Dr. Herman Parman and his very efficient secretary, Aline Wilson, writing a prescription for Mrs. Erlene Bush Snow, whose children have the measles.

"I now see Edmund Hale and Elizabeth Jones, famous opera singers, and Pearl Dennis, accomplished pianist, who are successfully completing a series of programs in the Metropolitan Opera House. Among their audience are James Swift and Douglas Clark, special pilots of the stars' plane; Marie Kenton, now a famous Powers model and Lillian Mason, great Olympic star representing the United States.

"What is that red streak flying through the air? Wait, it isn't a streak! It's a red convertible in which Tom Williams, Herman Schroeder, and Joe Sledge are traveling to Florida to view the coming bathing beauty contest in which Tina Burris, Margaret Silverman, Beverlee Wright, and Mary Ann Nix are competing."

Suddenly the earth shook and the sky rumbled.

"What was that?" I shrieked.

The voice replied, "That quake resulted from work done by Bobby Brumbach, Carl Barnes, and Billy O'Brien who are performing some more of their unpredictable experiments. The last explosion that occurred made it necessary to send Eva Knobel, Betty Lawson, Douglas Scott, Mary Katherine Lovell, Margaret Wright, and John Lucas to the Phillip Selley Hospital for special treatment under the supervision of Dr. Robert Douglas. I am told that Rita Sullivan, owner of Sullivan Florists, was kept busy filling orders for so many casualties.

"In the TENNESSEAN office which now comes into view, Joe Christopher is working on a special setting of type for an advertisement of 'Right With Cartwright' owned and operated by Annie Ruth and her brother, Robert Cartwright. Billy Carter, vice-president of the company, is chatting with Louise Tucker, owner of the Tucker Candy Company, and Doris Snow, inventor of 'Snow-Fresh Cosmetics.'

"I now see Muriel Stinnett, society editor, consulting Mary Helen Wirshing, head of the Art Department, and J. T. Perry, sports editor, about the new publisher, Harry Ervin.

"As North High School looms into view, in the gymnasium I see Coach Venson Barton giving his championship basketball team last minute instructions. In the office, Principal Kenneth Madden, who is taking it easy and reading the election returns, is pleased to find his candidate, Joe Coles, was elected to the presidency of the United States. He reluctantly lays down the paper to make a radio announcement. He informs Elva Ruth Williams, senior sponsor, that James Toombs' orchestra will be available for the Senior Formal.

Joyce Hardin, efficient secretary of the school, is informing Anne West, physical education teacher, that the athletic banquet will be the following week.

"The scene quickly shifts to Hollywood where Rankin Buckli and Robert Fudge are interviewing the famous tumbling trio, Shirley Moore, Genevieve Perry, and Connie Spurlock, well-known for outstanding acrobatic feats. Also, I see Margie Floyd and Don Brown, famous comedians who are making their debut in motion pictures. At the Brown Derby I see the well-known actress, Joan Youree, lunching with courageous waves, Katherine Sharp and Peggy Freeman, who have recently been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for bravery above and beyond the call of duty.

"I hear wedding bells and a small white church comes into view. A double wedding is in progress. Lovely Ruby Pinson and Dot Johnson are ready to walk down the aisle with their handsome bridegrooms. I noticed the Reverend Eugene McKennon was officiating, while Peggy Warren was playing 'Because.'

"Next, I hear a mighty roar. The scene is Sulphur Dell. The Nashville Vols are at bat. The bases are loaded. On them I see Joe Adair, Carl Billingsley, and Robert Carney. Donald Beazley is up. Suddenly the crowd is quiet. Donnie swings hard at the ball. Wham! The ball sails high into the air and disappears beyond the fence. As the crowds rise to cheer, I recognize Walter Manners, Beverly Grooms, Joyce Cunningham, and Charles Silverman. I see Argo Cobb coaching at third. He is managing the Nashville Club.

"The next scene flashes to a television screen where William Warren is giving the latest news bulletins: Robert Smith, multimillionaire oil man will wed; June Perry inherits the Perry Preserves Company; and Robert Pinkleton, famous crooner, will make public appearance in Nashville. After the news, I see it is time for Tennessee Jamboree, starring tonight, Stanley Bess and the Stanley Steamers.

"The scene changes to a huge ballroom in New York City where the annual 'Harvest Ball' is being held. Dancers from the world over are here to compete. The crowd cheers as fast-stepping Nora Bartlett walks away with honors in the jitterbugging contest."

Observing that I was calm again, the voice proceeded, "I note that Chicago Bowling Teams are paying special tribute to the two outstanding bowlers of all times, Winfred Moore and Edna Ruth Dunnebacke.

"The scene flashes to Smith's Garage, where Freddie is diligently working on a big Cadillac convertible which belongs to a famous criminal lawyer, Wendell Pardue.

"Herbert Mills, owner of a large super market is extending service to Mrs. Jo Ann Patton Clinard, who is planning a shower for Jo Ann Cook, soon to be wed.

"George Schutt, owner of a famous dude ranch in the sunny west, is instructing Mary Nancy Bauman how to ride a horse, while his foreman, Percy Nellums, is teaching Donald Franklin and Donald Lowry how to rope a steer. In the distance Jean Earhart Morgan can be seen lazily basking in the sunshine with her husband.

"Next the scene changes to a hospital room where patient Phillip Coleman, eccentric millionaire, lay demanding attention from pretty nurses, Ella Ruth Hardin and Iris Von Dohlen.

"The Nashville Airport is the next scene where I see Robert Whitson piloting a huge passenger plane. Helping the passengers are air hostesses, Betty Jo Russell and Sarah Wilson. Among the passengers are Betty Traugbber, a missionary on her way to China. Also, I see Joerene Waller and Delia Knight on their way to join their husbands in Germany."

The voice speaks, "I see one more scene where Betty Richardson and Miriam Maxwell are planning a classroom for the class of 1963. The vision blurs. I can see nothing more."

I thanked the voice graciously for giving me this wonderful look into the future. Reluctantly I turned and opened the door. The rain had stopped and the sun was shining brightly through the trees as I walked slowly toward home with a light and happy heart.

HONOR STUDENTS

KENNETH MADDEN

Valedictorian

Civitan Medalist

"North has reason to be proud of the seniors pictured on this page. For they have captured honors, attained goals and carried forth the advancement of the school. Lanky Madden, copped both Valedictorian and Civitan Medalist honors. Two bright and likeable girls named Elva Williams and Mary Helen Wirshing take honors of D. A. R. Medalist and Salutatorian, respectively. Surely are nice people!"

Similar to that of the two-day prog talks by newspapermen and tea ers, discussions by student edit exhibits, criticisms of newspap and entertainment features.

More Details to Come

Activities will begin with reg stration from 8:30 to 10 a.m., Ap 24, and will end by mid-aftern of April 25. More details of program will be announced as rangements are completed.

Date of the conference is la this year than usual, and it m be inconvenient for high sche with early closing dates, but Ap 24-25 is the only suitable d which does not conflict seriou with other conventions in Na ville.

Deadline Was March 2

Results of the yearly judg high school publications will be nounced at the Nashville meetin
Deadline for newspaper ent

Wirshing's Essay Wins First Place

Mary Helen Wirshing won place in the annual Civitan c contest at North, it was annou recently to Miss Mary Hall teacher sponsor, by the comm of judges chosen to rate the s ty-two essays written and sub lished by members of the senior I led classes.

The ten best essays entitled Privileges and Duties of a Citi have been sent to the local Civ club where they will compete others from various high school the city and county.

From the ten essays submi from North one will be jud best and the writer of the win essay will receive five dollars along with Miss Halloran will tend a luncheon given sometime April for winners from the var schools in the city and county.

Members of North's faculty served as judges are Miss H
Martin, Mrs. Margaret Gray,
Miss Emogene Gilpin.

These Senior essays take place of a spring term paper, and are counted as such on students grades.

Kenneth entered North from Jones elementary school in 1947.

Active in School Affairs

He now serves as drum major of the band, of which he has been a member for six years. He also serves as assistant chairman of the Student Council, news editor of the North Star, and co-editor of Po laris.

Athletics has claimed the interest of and some time from Kenneth, as he is now a valuable member of the basketball team.

Most Valuable in Citizenship

Another coveted honor came to this young man when his fellow classmates voted him the most valuable senior and the most out standing in service to his school.
He will receive for this honor the Civitan Key to be presented to him

"Back to take a second glance at the seniors, this time informally. Look closely, for this will be the last time we will see them at North High."

Apologies to Poetess Stein. A rose may be endlessly a rose; a job is more than just a job.

A job is a living.

So when you look for a job, you want security, good pay, assurance of raises and opportunity to advance.

Telephone girls find all these things and more in interesting and important jobs in a growing industry.

Why not come in and talk with us about a position at the Telephone Company?
